Legislative Measures and Rules thereunder.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 765, dated 27th September 1924.

Under Rule 8 of the Rules for the conduct of business and procedure in the Mysore Legislative Council published in Notification No. P. 4347—Legis. 13-23-22, dated 5th February 1924, the accompanying bills (i) further to amend the Legal Practitioners' Regulation, 1884 and (ii) to consolidate and amend the law relating to Insolvency Regulation, 1911, are published for general information with the statement of objects and reasons.

BILL FURTHER TO AMEND THE LEGAL PRACTITIONERS' REGULATION, 1884.

Whereas it is expedient further to amend the Mysore Legal Practitioners' Regulation 1884, His Highness the Maharaja is pleased to enact as follows.—

In clause (1) of Section 10 of the Regulation after the word 'Regulation' the following words shall be added, viz.,
'and the conditions on which their practice shall be permitted to continue after admission.'

Amendment of
S. 10

Statement of objects and reasons.

The Legal Practitioners' Regulation as in force in Mysore does not expressly prohibit legal practitioners from entering into any trade or other business. It is apprehended that a legal practitioner, cannot, in most cases, do his work to the satisfaction of his clients, if he be busy with another trade or business at the same time. The principle that a member of the legal profession should not carry on any other profession during his practice appears to be fairly established. The Legal Practitioners' Act in force in British India, provides for the framing of rules, by the High Courts, as to the suspension and dismissal of pleaders, and the Madras High Court has in pursuance of this power, made a rule prohibiting vakils and pleaders from carrying on any trade or business without the previous sanction of the High Court. The Mysore Regulation has no corresponding provision. It is proposed by the present amendment of the Regulation to give power to the Chief Court to frame rules prescribing the conditions on which an advocate or pleader shall be permitted to practice after admission.

(4) Any creditor shall be entitled to appear and oppose the grant of a protection order.

Power to arrest after adjudication.

Provided that, if, in the opinion of the Court, the value of any debt is incapable of being fairly estimated, the Court may make an order to that effect, and thereupon the debt shall not be included in the schedule.

(2) A copy of every such schedule shall be posted in the Court-house.

(3) Any creditor of the insolvent may, at any time before the discharge of the insolvent, tender proof of his debt and apply to the Court for an order directing his name to be entered in the schedule as a creditor in respect of any debt provable under this Regulation, and not entered in the schedule, and the Court, after causing notice to be served on the insolvent and the other creditors who have proved their debts, and hearing their objections (if any), shall comply with or reject the application.

Debts
provable

Regulation.

34. (1) Debts which have been excluded from the schedule on the ground that their value is incapable of being fairly estimated and demands in the nature of unliquidated damages arising otherwise than by reason of a contract or a breach of trust shall not be provable under this Regulation.

(2) Save as provided by sub-section (1), all debts and liabilities, present or future, to which the debtor is subject when he is adjudged an insolvent, or to which he may become subject before his discharge by reason of any obligation incurred before the date of such adjudication, shall be deemed to be debts provable under this Regulation.

Annulment of Adjudication.

35. Where, in the opinion of the Court, a debtor ought not to have been adjudged insolvent, or where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the debts of the insolvent have been paid in full, the Court shall, on the application of the debtor, or of any other person interested, by order in writing, annul the adjudication.

Power to annul adjudication of insolvency.

36. If, in any case in which an order of adjudication has been made, it shall be proved to the Court by which such order was made that insolvency proceedings are pending in another Court against the same debtor, and that the property of the debtor can be more conveniently distributed by such other Court, the Court may annul the adjudication or stay all proceedings thereon.

Power to cancel one of concurrent orders of adjudication.

37. (1) Where an adjudication is annulled, all sales and dispositions of property and payments duly made, and all acts theretofore done, by the Court or receiver, shall be valid; but, subject as aforesaid, the property of the debtor who was adjudged insolvent shall vest in such person as the Court may appoint, or, in default of any such appointment, shall revert to the debtor to the extent of his right or interest therein on such conditions (if any) as the Court may, by order in writing, declare.

Proceedings on annulment.

(2) Notice of every order annulling an adjudication shall be published in the official Gazette and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

Compositions and Schemes of Arrangement.

38. (1) Where a debtor after the making of an order of adjudication, submits a proposal for a composition in satisfaction of his debts, or a proposal for a scheme of arrangement of his affairs, the Court shall fix a date for the consideration of the proposal, and shall issue a notice to all creditors in such manner as may be prescribed.

Compositions and schemes of arrangement.

(2) If, on the consideration of the proposal, a majority in number and three-fourths in value, of all the creditors whose debts are proved and who are present in person or by pleader, resolve to accept the proposal, the same shall be deemed to be duly accepted by the creditors.

(3) The debtor may at the meeting amend the terms of his proposal if the amendment is, in the opinion of the Court, calculated to benefit the general body of creditors.

(4) Where the Court is of opinion, after hearing the report of the receiver, if a receiver has been appointed, and after considering any objections which may be made by or on behalf of any creditor, that the terms of the proposal are not reasonable or are not calculated to benefit the general body of creditors, the Court shall refuse to approve the proposal.

ENACTMENTS REPEALED.

(See section 80.)

Year	No.	Short title	Extent of repeal
1911	VI	The Insolvency Regulation, 1911.	So much as has not been repealed.

Statement of objects and reasons.

It was represented in the Dasara Session of the Representative Assembly of 1923 that the present Insolvency Regulation of 1911 was defective in various ways, that it lent itself to the protection of fraudulent debtors and that it subjected an undischarged insolvent to little or no practical inconvenience. It was therefore urged that the Regulation might be amended on the lines of the British Indian Provincial Insolvency Act, V of 1920. There is no provision at present to require the insolvent to apply for his discharge and there is thus no stage at which the misconduct of the debtor should come before the court. Provision is therefore proposed to be made to compel an insolvent to apply to the court within a prescribed period for his discharge or to lose the protection afforded by the insolvency proceedings. These changes are effected by clauses 10 (2), 27, and 41 of the Bill.

Under the Regulation, as it stands at present, it is not open to the court to reject the petition of a debtor on the ground that the application is an abuse of the law. It seems reasonable that the court should have discretion as to the amount of protection to be afforded to a petitioning debtor in each individual case, the debtor being required to show that he is in fact unable to pay his debts and that he has not concealed his property. These changes are effected by clauses 24 and 25 of the Bill.

Clause 4 gives power to the court to decide all questions arising in insolvency proceedings such as question of title to property, with a view to the speedy realisation of assets in the interests of creditors.

Clause 23 provides for ordering the release of judgment debtors under arrest or imprisonment at the time of admitting their insolvency petitions.
